

Anybody got a stock seat I can borrow?

Posted by Lucid Moments - 23 Aug 2015 20:17

I've just picked up an '84 944 and will be converting it into a race car hopefully for next season. I want to run it in HPDE for a couple of events this year to get used to the car since I have never had a RWD car on track before.

Anyway, the weak point of the car I bought is the interior, and a somewhat better seat would be nice until I replace it with a race seat. So does anyone have one lying around that I can borrow?

=====

Re: Anybody got a stock seat I can borrow?

Posted by Lucid Moments - 24 Aug 2015 14:31

An added question. It has been recommended that I buy this suspension kit from Paragon Products. Any reason I shouldn't?

=====

Re: Anybody got a stock seat I can borrow?

Posted by AgRacer - 24 Aug 2015 16:40

Lucid Moments wrote:

An added question. It has been recommended that I buy this suspension kit from Paragon Products. Any reason I shouldn't?

That one is good just remember 30mm is maximum OD for solid torsion bars, 31mm for hollow. The weltmeister sway bars are supposed to be pretty good but cost more money than the M030 bars can be had for.

=====

Re: Anybody got a stock seat I can borrow?

Posted by early70scamaros - 24 Aug 2015 17:48

Brian Evans wrote:

I suspect Shawn (early70smullet) will be at Nationals

I will be there but not taking anything I can bring a seat in and don't believe anyone from the Memphis area is planning on going either.

=====

Re: Anybody got a stock seat I can borrow?

Posted by Lucid Moments - 24 Aug 2015 17:51

The seat isn't a huge issue I just thought someone would have one lying around. The seat in the car is functional just aesthetically lacking.

=====